International Company's Surplus Has Reached the Point Where Common Stockholders Yearn.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Great interest is manifested over the forthcoming annual report of the International Paper Company. The company, it is stated, has been operating under exceptionally advantageous circumstances during the past year, and it is confidently expected it will show considerable im-provement in business and profits over the year ended June 36, 1904. In that year, the company's gross income was $20,304,513, and its net income $2,061,-660. The dividends on preferred stock at 6 per cent. amounted to $1,344,402 leaving excess over all expenditures and dividends of $717,25$. This, added to the surplus then existing, made the total surplus June 30, 1904, $5,976,431.

There is a growing sentiment among stockholders that this surplus has now reached sufficient proportions to sat-isfy the management and to entitle the common stockholders to something in the way of distribution. The surplus earnings for last year were more than sufficient to pay 4 per cent. on the common stock, while this year, it is claimed, there is every prospect that it could pay considerable more.

Distribution at the rate of 2 per cent. could, it is claimed, be made and the directors still continue in conservative

Its verdict upon the project as a whole was favorable and at the conclusion of the session, before the assembled Grand Dukes, Ministers, Senators and other members of the commission, Emperor Nicholas set the seal of his approval thereto.

The sitting today continued from 2:30 in the afternoon until 8 o'clock at night when the commission, finished the labors upon which it had been engage aknost constantly for the past week. Several of the members in whom the Emperor reposes special confidence were requested by him to return tomorrow to Peterhof to asist him in the preparations of a solemn manifesto, through which the summons to the representatives of the people will be issued.

In principle, the national assembly will be a deliberative and consultative body for the discussion of measures laid before it by the Emperor or his ministers. It will have the power to force the withdrawal of ministerial propositions by a two-thirds vote, which gives it at least a negative control over legislation. It will be a large body probably of over 500 members, chosen by a system of indirect elections. The first session, it is understood, will be held in November. The elections will tabe place in October.

DID KENILWORTH READ HIS OWN PALM?

WYORK, Aug. 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Walter A. Kenilworth, the famous palmist who has read the worth, the famous paimist who has read the hands of the King of England, of President Roosevelt and many prominent men and women in America, was today arrested at Newport on a warrant sworn by Helen Harrison, an actress, charging Kenilworth with stealing $150 from her, June 15, in the Hotel Girard. Kenilworth had gone to Newport at the earnest request of the members of the "smart set," who wished him to tell them by the lines in their hands what the future held in store. Several engagements recently reported are said to have been foretold by the palmist.

Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish and other leaders of the "smart set" have for years been his regular patrons. The news of the arrest of Kenilworth came as a shock to some of the "martest" people in Newport, because he was to have exercised his art at a big garden party to be given there this week.

The fees from the "Four Hundred" have made Kenilworth rich He brands the accusation as "silly."

twelve and thirteen hundred delegates were present. It is almost exclusively a white man's meeting, there being very few negroes in the hell.

Congressman Campbell Slemp, the only Republican Congressman from Virginia, was introduced to the convention tonight, and he in turn introduced Secretary of the Treasury Leslie M. Secretary Shaw was greeted with a storm of cheers, and at the conclusion of his address, the convention adjourned until tomorrow. ion adjourned until tomorrow

REMARKS OF SHAW.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.]

ROANOKE (Va.) Aug. 8.—Secretary of the Treasury Shaw, who is in Roa-noke to address the Republican State Convention, when shown a dispatch from New York in which it was stated that the Secretary had quit the Cabi-net to enter the field as a Presidential candidate, said the statement was the merest rot."

The State convention was called to order here at noon today by Chairman Slemp, who introduced J. E. Gleaves of Wythe as temporary chairman.

Secretary Shaw made some referen to self-government, saying that who to self-government, saying that when this republic was launched the world was distrustful of the experiment.

"Many believed," he said, "that personal ambition would override statesmanship. They believed that revolution would follow revolution. They did not believe it would be possible for men to walk side by side to the polls and deposit ballots and then each demand for the other the same protection and the same honesty of count that he claimed for himself. It was that he claimed for himself. It was doubted if defeated candidates and de-feated parties would peacefully acqui-esce in the results. The experiment has been in process of trial and develop-ment in this country for something over one hundred years, during which period the machinery has sometimes creaked, but it has not given away, and never will, so long as we keep our

Reports in Favor of Legislation by the National Congress.

IBY THE ASSCCIATED PRESS—A.M.]
OMAMA, Aug. S.—Ralph W. Breckinridge of Omaha, chairman of the Committee on Insurance of the American Bat Association, has completed the report of the committee, which is to be presented to the annual convention at Narragansett Pier, which will be held August 23 to 25. The report makes five specific recommendations, as follows:

Legislation by Congress providing for the supervision of insurance, the repeal of all valued-policy laws, a uniform fire policy, the term of which will be specifically defined, the repeal of all valued-policy laws, a uniform fire policy the term of which will be specifically defined, the repeal of all retaliatory tax laws and stricter incorporation laws in the several States as they affect the creation of insurance companies, and a general statute prohibiting the use of the mails to all persons, associations or corporations transacting the business of insurance in disregard-of State or Federal regulations.

President Roosevelt is quoted as having said to the committee that he i. very much in favor of Federal supervision of insurance. W. R. Vance of Virginia, a member of the committee, is expected to present a mipority report, in which he will differ with the committee that he i. very much in favor of Federal supervision of the North, the brain of the Committee and the planes and grander achievements whenever, under God, the brain of the South, the brain of the South, the brain of the South, the brain of price shall be allied for affirmative accumation, and no portion of our common country shall be longer held to retard.

"And now, my friends, what are these principles that divide parties? The parties separate primarily on questions of political economy. Every indistrictions of prediction and the producer and a consumer. The dominant party appears to the producer in the plane of the producer and a consumer. The dominant party appears to the producer, the parties are all producer and a consumer.

Our political opponents may promise high-prices informed and cheap products, high-prices wheat and cheap bread, high-priced cattle and cheap meat, but they make these promises without high-priced iaror and cheap products, high-priced wheat and cheap meat, but they make these promises without possibility of fulfillment. Whenever they have put their policies in operation, we have had the cheap products of iabor, for the products of cheaper foreign labor have found our markets in superabundance. But cheap products of labor mean cheap labor. Cheap factory product carries as a concomitant curse low wages for artisans, and low wages for the artisan means curtailed consumption of farm products, which results in a reduction in the price thereof, while a reduction in prices means loss to the producer of clothes, of furniture, of cars, of building materials and every other article of rural consumption. All this is but a name for stagnation and panic which has marked every experiment with tariff for revenue only from the beginning of our history until now.

"The disastrous results of free trade have not followed each and every experiment with free trade because they were desired by the men who advocated the measures who produced them, but because the measures were unwise, however learned, however particular and however honest the men were who enacted them. A few years ago, some diamond merchants in New York suggested that if uncut diamonds were put on the free list and the duty retained on cut diamonds, they would employ diamond cutters to cut them in this country. Uncut diamonds were therefore placed on the free list and 19 per cent, and valorem duty was placed on cut diamonds unset and 60 per cent, but diamonds unset and 60 per cent, and valorem duty was placed on cut diamonds unset and 60 per cent, and valorem duty was placed on cut diamonds unset and 60 per cent, but of the particular of the partic

Defective electric wiring is supposed to have started the fire. The loss is estimated by Fire Chief Croker at at least a quarter of a million dollars. One bronze bas reliefs were ruined. Was totally destroyed. Two large paintings, "Resurrection," and "Christ Healing the Sick," were also burned. John Lafarge executed the paintings and the bas relief was from Augustus St. Gaudens. Sumptuous altar and chancel furnishings, including a $20,000 organ, were destroyed.

For a time, John D. Rockefeller's home was in danger. Firemen who stood with their hose lines in the windows of Rockefeller's home, concentrated the streams of water on the stone tower of the church, which for a time threatened to topple over on the Rockefeller house, owing to the intense heat at the tower's base.

The church, which was closed for the summer, has stood on its present site of fifty years, and has been the theater of some of America's most brilliant weddings. Rev. Ernest M. Stires is rector.

Shortly after the noon hour, the rearadmiral and the envoys entered the room in the building which has been fitted up as a café for the use of the peace party, where the formal luncheon of Rear-Admiral Mead to the plenipotentiaries had been spread. The apariment was decorated with flags and streamers, the plain walls being completely hidden by a profusion of naval code pennants.

The tables were prepared for sixty-five persons, those present including, besides the distinguished Russian and Japanese, the maval officers attending Rear-Admiral Mead, their wives and a number of prominent Portsmouth residents.

When the luncheon was over, the start for Portsmouth was begun, at 1:35 o'clock. A band of marines escorted the distinguished party to the navy yard, where the marine escort was withdrawn and the military escort of Portsmouth was substituted.

The regiment got under way without delay, and, headed by the First Regiment Band of the State, took up the line of march to the county courshouse, where Gov. McLane and his staff were waiting to extend the greetings of the State, and where Mr. Peirce, as representative of the nation, welcomed the envoys. The Governor's opening address was brief but cordial. He said:

PORTSMOUTH (N. H.) Aug. 8.—
With one of the peace envoys within its gates and the other three practically at the harbor's mouth. Portsmouth today awoke to the realization that one of the one important days in its history was actually at hand.

The Russian envoy, M. But it was Victor Emanuel, King of Italy, who showed the liveliest interest in Mr. Lubin's scheme and displayed great eagerness to forward it by all possible means. During one of the several conversations which took place between them the King freely acknowledged his great admiration for the progressive spirit and enterprise shown by Americans in developing the resources of the country and extending her trade and expressed himself as extremely anxious to introduce American business methods into Italian commercial life wherever practicable. In describing their first meeting to me Mr. Lubin said:

It was a fierce contest for the primary or preliminary battle, and the League has won, having carried nine of the eighteen Assembly Districts, which have 231 of 399 delegates apportioned to the municipal nominating convention. The Ruef's forces, with "boodle and graft" for their motto, carried nine Assembly Districts, but they represented only 168 delegates, so that the League will thave a clear working majority of sixty-three delegates in convention, which will meet September 17, to nowinste a ticket in the interest of civic desency and an honest administration of the affairs of San Francisco.

The standing of Mayor Schmitz among his neighbors was exemplified by the vote cast in his home precinct, the Ninety-fourth, of the Forty-first District. The Ruef decay ticket was given 62 votes, while the ticket of the San Francisco Republican League received 338. This section of the city unquestionably favors civic decency, and not the present malodorous administration of "graft" and municipal fith.

The total vote is 38,553. of which the Republican League got 15,803; Ruef Republicans, 15,386; Democrats, 629; Ruef Democrats, 2787; Labor, 774; Ruef Labor, 374. One precinct is yet to be heard from.

On Monday night, the min, who was a stranger to the residents of Alamittos, became suddenly insane, and, stripping himself of his clothing, paraded the neighborhood of his cottage, uttering wild cries and frightening the linhabitants of the place.

Constable Lynn of Long Beach was called and placed the man under restraint. He was clothed and taken to the Long Beach jail, Dr. Wood being summoned to attend him.

Hehrlein refused medical at ent on, and yesterday morning two Christian Science practitioners called at the jail and administered the treatment prescribed by their faith.

In the man's valise were found papers and tracts on Christian Science, together with the address of his wife, who was notified.

When Mrs. Hehrlein reached Long Beach she found her husband rational, and he was permitted to accompany her to Los Angeles. She says Hehrlein was rational when she took him to Alamitos, leaving him there at his earnest request.

Bulgin. After declaring with good old Methodist fervor that he believed in hell, and attributing his own entrance into religious work to the prayers of his Methodist mother. Dr. Bulgin's hearest want of the cet this man and thank want of the cet this man and thank. Methodist mother, Dr. Bulgin's hearers voted his title clear to a Methodist mansion. Today, he cheered the back-sliders, telling them not to be discouraged because of mistakes, but to gird on their armor and fight on. He at-tributed errors of men in the church to the warfare of the spiritual with the old Adamic nature. He defended holicid Adamic nature. He defended holiness and sanctification.

"You don't always live as you ought, and sometimes people call you a pack of hypocrites. Now, I don't believe that. Say, one day a farmer was walking through the wild land and came across a wild crabapple tree. It hore nothing but thorns and bloom, but, remembering that his wife was fond of flowers, he had it grubbed up and planted in his front yard. For years it blossomed there and his wife came to him one day and said: "I'm tired of having only flowers from that tree, it takes up space to no profit. I remember that back in Indiana the best apple trees my father had were those that were grafted on a crabapple tree."

that were grafted on a crabapple tree.

"The farmer sent back and got five sprouts from a winesap, cut down the crabapple tree to a stupp and burnt the top. He slipped the buds of the apple tree under the bark and in five years you could find that from the place he put them in, the bark was like that of the apple, the foliage was apple and beautiful winesap apples were gathered from it. Just where the apple bark begins there's a bulge out—not a bulge in, mind you.

The farmer calls it an apple tree. You say it is a crab tree, because the stump of the crab is there. But the farmer knows it is an apple tree. From the time he put in the buds of the winesap its nature was changed and its growth has been all apple. It will never bear crabs, but apples.

The arrival of Mrs. A. M. Whittier, a wealthy wornan of Riverside, was an event of yesterday, in which Evangelist Bulgin was concerned. They are devoted friends of about three weeks, in which time she has presented him with a handsome residence lot fat Long Reach and a beautiful oil painting of her late husband. On the night after Christmas, last year, the young man was in Salt Lake and without money to procure a night's lodging or with which to buy food. With him was a man hamed Murphy, a labor agitator and strike leader, with something of a local reputation. The young man's lawyer made a strong and eloquent plea for mercy, but Judge Armstrong, who tried the case and who pronounced the sentence, was deaf to it all. He simply shook his head and said the case had no mitigating circumstances, that the robbery was one of the most daring ever attempted upon the streets of Salt Lake and that the offender must stand the consequences. The sentence then followed. A motion was filed for a new trial, but it was promptly overruled.

Sheriff Hensley, the young man's father, attended the trial a few days ago and did everything in his power for the boy, but he was not in the courtroom today. It is believed he went home some days ago.

The prisoner had explained that he only thought he was out on a lark. The sentence staggered and almost overcame him.

CRIME BRIEFS. Many Women in Court. NEW YORK, Aug. 8 .- (Exclusive Dispatch.] More than a hundred wom-en, nearly all with from one to six children in tow, were in the West Side Police Court at one time this morn-Police Court at one time this morning, with complaints against their husbands. The spectacle was one of the most striking ever witnessed in a justime's court, and called for caustic comment of social and domestic conditions. The complaints were nearly all for abandonment and cruelty, with drink as the foundation of all the trouble. Afther court adjourned, Magistrate Pool made this startling statement: "Sixty thousand wives in Manhattan alone are abandoned every year. Every morning the police courts are crowded with women, leading from one to six children, begging the magistrates for warrants for husbands. The evil of wife desertion has grown to menacing proportions. The lawmakers of the State should give it their most serious attention, and frame statutes to meet and kill the evil."

There are now about one thousand stands, the principal ranches scattering from the San Gabriel Cañon's mouth and the Santa Anita Cañon into the subsidiary openings where the feeding district combines the mountain bloom with the meadows and orchards of thousands of acres accessible. Among the districts which will be nefited are the copper properties of verside county, the Castle Douel mines, the Luce lead and silver proper-ties, the small mines of the Fortuna district and those in the Copper Moun-tain section of Arizona. In the lastnamed district there is more activity and the first gasoline hotst is being put in on the property of the Hecla, a Loss Angeles company. Operations here are down into the sulphides which carry

This property has already been extensively worked in the past and there are about 25,000 feet of shafts, tunnels, drifts and crosscuts completed underground. It is the intention to sink to 1000 feet or more in the immediate future. Fifteen months ago the mine was closed on account of fire which destroyed the surface property of the company. The Choix Consolidated Mining Company has decided to start up work on the Robert E. Lee, one of its properties near Choix, Sinaloa, where it expects to erect a mill and smelter to operate more extensively as soon as the Stillwell road from Topolobampo reaches a point from which machinery can be conveyed conveniently to the mines. The Robert E. Lee is near and in line with the famous Liuvia de Cro (Shower of Gold) mine that has made a great record in production.

According to advices received by the company from its manager at Choix, two Americans have just been there for the purpose of obtaining a concession for a sawmill. There is an abundance of timber in the mountains around the mines that has never been exploited and which is sufficient for all needs of the country for years to come. The establishment of a sawmill is expected to aid the mining development of the country.

UNION THIEVES

TRAINS TIED arge Meeting Last Night to Forwar Plans for Preserving Natural Beauties of Arroyo Seco. NEAR SALTON.

> Railroad Has Fresh Troubles at Inland Sea.

High Winds Cause Waves to Wash Out Track.

Passengers Come in Several Hours Behind Time.

Belated by the wash of the Salton Sea, three of the star trains of the Sunset route of the Southern Pacific— the Golden State Limited and two sec-tions of the Sunset Limited—reached Los Angeles within a few minutes of each other between 11 and 11:30 orclock last night. Several hundred passengers from El Paso, New Orleans and points east and porth of those cities tumbled east and north of those cities tumbled out of their seats, some to stop in Los Angeles, and many others to continue the journey to the north on trains that were waiting.

The Golden State Limited, which is the display of deeds of spectacular valor, but the management voices its appreciation of the loyalty of the men on guard at Salton, from the Indians and the cholos cutting brush and piling sand bags into the breaches in the embankment, to the engineers and foremen planning and directing the work. On the record of every man in the service, kept with all the faithfulness of army records, credit marks for their loyalty in fighting the encroachments of the Salton Sea will appear opposite the names of every man who fought the rising tide of the inland sea. This faithful adherence to duty, regardless of long hours heavy work and fatigue, the company counts equally with deeds of signal valor and gallantry in the face of great personal danger.

WIND SUBSIDED.

WIND SUBSIDED.

Although the flood waters retired yesterday with the subsiding wind, and the breaks in the track were repaired enough to allow trains to creep across, the company will not feel safe until the extension of the shoo-fly track is completed from Salton to Dermid, when practically the entire threatened stretch of fifteen miles will be safeguarded by a new track from floe to eight feet higher than the present main line, and one that will be well above any supposed possible rise of the water. The flood waters spreading over the low Salton basin from the inrush of the torrent through the intake of the California Development Company's canal on the Colorado River has already cost the Southern Pacific railway thousands of dollars and the employment of from 200 to 500 men for more than a month, and the end can hardly be termed as yet in sight.

But throughout all the trouble the situation has been handled so well, and the various emergencies have been met so promptly that not until yesterday has through traffic on the main line been delayed for an hour.

WATER OVER RAILS.

WATER OVER RAILS.

The men who manned the arriving trains had the same story to tell of the situation. The high winds that prevailed Monday night had churned the waters of the Salton into rolling waves that beat and wore against the fill that supports the railroad tracks and weakened the roadbed to such an extent that trains could not pass in safety. Water was over the rails in some places.

Water was over the rails in some places.

To add to the difficulty, the trouble had broken out afresh at a point east of the section where one "shoo-fly" is in operation and another "shoo-fly" that is intended to give free passage around the newly weakened spot had not yet been completed.

The result was that the heavy trains were obliged to wait east of the soft spot until temporary repairs could be made.

were obliged to wait east of the soft spot until temporary repairs could be made.

"It was the hottest day I ever passed," said K. D. Walton, a mining engineer of New Orleans, who was en route to San Francisco. "The piping heat of the desert, combined with the humidity caused by the presence of the big body of water, simply parboiled us. "There was a stretch of about three miles of track that seemed to be affected most seriously. The water stood several inches over the rails in some places, and there were other spots where the ballast was washed ou' from between the ties. Hundreds of menwere at work on repairs and everything possible was done by the railroad officials to get the trains in motion.

"During the day, however, the wind."

road officials to get the trains in motion.

"During the day, however, the wind went down and the waves subsided so that work could progress more rapidly. As soon as our train got over the spot where the most recent damage was caused, we struck a bit of high ground, after which there was another stretch that had been washed badly by the waves. A temporary track was in operation around this place, though and we got through with only slight delay.

"While the mysterious sea is causing the railroad company much expense and annoyance, it does not seem to be affecting anything else. It was said yesterday that the water had fallen some, and that the only trouble was due to the winds of the night before."

Other passengers on the trains told the engineers and large forces of labores had made the roadbed safe for the passage of trains.

"I Don't Know What's the Matter," Said He.

Aged Minister and Merchant Seized With Chill.

The address to have been given last evening at the Broadway Christian Church by Rev. B. F. Coulter, the merchant-preacher, had a most dramatic and unlooked-for close.

Before the gentleman had been speaking ten minutes he collapsed and sank back, murmuring haltingly, "foon't - know - what - is - the - matter with - the - matter - with - the - matter - with - the -

made for man He was enunciating a great principle, but this principle can be observed according to different rules, sithough the principle itself is innerhangeable. The Christian religion is a religion of principles, not of rules. Principle is a fundamental source that produces results when applied to anything, so the principles underlying business are these fundamental sources that never change, and, rightly understood and faithfully applied, lead to success. Knowledge is power in the business world just as certainly as in the intellectual, and I am persuaded that many men fail when they ought to succeed, and fail because they do not seek knowledge. One of the chief business principles is industry; you do not expect a lazy man to succeed, no matter how much he knows. It is a maxim among the Indians that it is better to walk than to run, it is better to stand than to walk, it is better to stand than to walk, it is better to the hand of the diligent maketh.

than to stand, and it is better to lie down than to sit.

"The hand of the diligent maketh rich," and we see that verified every day. The one thing essential to an industrious man is order, arrangement, system, method. I have always tried to impress upon those who have come within my influence the value of system and order. Another thing necessary to success in business is calculation—wisely considered—" and as he uttered these words he was selzed with the congestive chill and ceased to speak.

tered these words he was seized with the congestive chill and ceased to speak.

An-hour after Mr. Coulter reached his home the physicians, announced that they anticipated no serious results from the attack, but a period of rest will probably be imperative. For a man of his advanced years, Mr. Coulter has been remarkably active. For the past eleven years he has preached twice every Sabbath day at his church on North Broadway, never taking a vacation, summer or winter, and has made the remarkable record of not missing a single Sunday service in all that time. He is always present at the mid-week prayer meeting, also, and, beside all these ministerial duties, he has given two hours a day to his extensive business affairs. His services have been freely given to the church of his affection and devotion, and his congregation were so deeply affected last evening when their beloved pastor succumbed to his terrible physical weakness that it was ming affecting and pathetic. Tender testimony to his faithfulness and goodness was on every lip, for he is regarded by his congregation, which numbers to his congregation, which numbers love, like that existing between children and a father.

Plans for Preserving Natural Beauties of Arroyo Seco.

The second public meeting to forward plans for preserving the Arroyo Seco as a natural park was held at Mineral Park payllion last night; and was even more largely attended than the first gathering. Fully 200 representative citizens of Los Angeles, Pasadema, South Pasadema, South Pasadema Municipal League and the country just outside these cities, were present, and there was much enthusiasm over the project of acquiring the arroyo from Sycamore Grove to Devil's Gate, and holding it for a public park. Attorney Walter R. Bacon of Garvanza was the chairman. An address was made by Miss Mary Foy, now resident of San Rafael Heights.

It was decided to proceed at once with incorporation, and these articles will be filed within a few days. A committee to be appointed by the chairman will select the board of directors. The two prisoners had been released upon putting up $50 bail, each, and when they appeared for arraignment at 2 o'clock, for some reason they remained outside the court-room until summoned by their attorney. The complaint charged them with larceny of the eight boards taken from the corner of Thirty-second and Main streets, though their wagon showed that they had taken others. On Monday Mr. Johnson sent out the remaining thirty-five boards into the same section of the city and notified the University police station of the location of each board.

About 1 o'clock yesterday morning Patrolman Thornton quietly approached the corner of Thirty-second and Main streets, where eight of the boards had been placed, and caught Newman and Fitzgerald in the act of tearing the boards down and loading them on a wagon. On the wagon were eleven of the boards and Thornton watched them load the last of the eight at the corner in question before there is still much mystery in the case,

Mrs. T. W. Brotherton, in whose employ the girl was, has received a letter purporting to have come from Miss Quinn. The envelope was dirty and crumpled, and the writing was broken and disconnected, as though the writer was under some nervous strain or excitement. Mrs. Brotherton believes, however, that the writing is that of the Quinn girl.

The letter stated that Miss Quinn had alighted from a Traction car on Friday night at the corner of Eighth and Hill streets, and there had sprained her ankle to badly that she had been taken to a hospital, and was under the care of a physician.

There was nothing further than this statement; no name of the hospital or attending physician. Mr. Brotherton telephoned to all of the public hospitals and received information that none of them had such a patient.

It is evident that either Miss Quinn herself, or others who may be detaining her, desired to allay all anxiety about her disappearance.

Miss Quinn could have had no occasion to step off the car at the point named if she had carried out her original plans. She would have gone to

They tried by all sorts of fool tales to escape being arrested, among other things denying that the horse and wagon was their property. The crowbar with which they pried the boards loose from buildings and fences was found in their possession. They also had a bucket of paste, a brush and a lot of old posters, and when they found one of the Angelus posters where it had been stuck against a building they pasted one of the old posters over it. When arraigned before Justice Rose yesterday, Newman looked sheepish and Fitsgerald looked defiant. The latter sidled up toward Justice Rose in an effort to overhear a confidential conversation between he and the arresting officer, and scarcely seemed abashed by a severe look from the court.

Roy Adamson, a street car employed filed a voluntary petition in bank-supply in the United States District Court yesterday, and asked to be re-leased from his burden of debt, which amounts to only $316. ROSE QUINN WRITES.

While new light was received yester day in the mysterious case of the dis-appearance of Miss Rose Quinn, as she was returning from a visit at the house of a friend on Clarence street to her place of employment, the Broth-erton residence on Hartford avenue, there is still much mystery in the case, Mrs. T. Some sympathetic woman who mod-stly signs herself "A Hopeful and rue Citizen," yesterday filed with the ity Clerk a communication which it is oped will move the City Council to ompassion at its next session. This hoped will move the City Council to compassion at its next session. This hopeful and true citizen has a deep sympathy for the men of the city street department because "they work-diligently eight hours each day for six days a week with but Sunday left for a little quiet rest at home with their families." This kind lady informs the City Council that these men would enjoy a few days at the beach or mountains, and suggests that they should have five or six successive Saturdays for this purpose.

AT THE COUNTHOUSE. CHALL GRANDMA GIVE UP HOME

PRETTY ELLA CONTRERAS OF MONROVIA GAINER?

Charged With Having Nipped Deed Out of Escrew and Placed it on Riscord, Leaving Aged Mrs. Decer Morely as a Charge Upon Her Grafitude.

Whether TI-year-old Mrs. Mary E. Decer should retain possession of her cottage home at Monrovia or yield it up to pretty Elia Contreras, who is scarce out of her teens, is a problem before Judge Trask.

By a curious mix-up the title is in Elia, and "Grandma" Decer is very much disturbed, and wants the deed cancelied. But the law is not always considerate of the feelings of old ladles, and Mrs. Decer will have to remain on the anxious seat for a few days while the court looks up dusty tomes bearing upon the matter.

Elia's mother was reared by Mrs. Decer, and that is why Elia calls her grandma. The cottage at Monrovia is valued at about $1550, and is about all ing for the aged woman. She told of having kept her obligation in this regard so far as to have taken provisions to grandma from time to time, and on occasions to have remained with her over night. McKee, in going upon the witness stand, stated that he had acted as the friend of Ella, and that was his reason for advising that the deed be recorded.

Now the question arises: The deed having been placed in escrow, has Mrs. Decer power to recall it, or must the deed be held in fuffilment of the original escrow understanding. Walter Haas, Esq., representing the plaintiff, stated that he can pile up authorities to show that the maker of the deed can recall it at any time, and he asks that it be yielded up for cancellation. But there are other knotty points which the court is taking under advisement.

MAKE MORE TROUBLE.

In the case of F. Ned Schofield, who was mulcted $75 by Justice Congden at Pasadena for being present at the cocking main held on the Hunter ranch, Earl Rogers was to have been present in Judge Smith's court yestertray to uphold the complaint upon which the defendant had been convict-

IN STREET DEPARTMENT.

Ten men in the street sweeping department went out on a sort of strike the first of the week. Yesterday the recalcitrants were on the carpet before Street Superintendent Hanley, and they came to an understanding.

Mr. Hanley decided several weeks ago that for the good repute of the city it was necessary to have the men sweep First and Fifth streets, the thoroughfares leading to the depots, on Sunday. This required about four hours' work, but the men demanded a full days' psy. According to city ordinances they could only receive pay for the actual time employed. Last Sunday work had been mapped out for the men which took more than the usual flime, and they simply quit when the usual four hours' sunt had been accomplished.

Superintendent Hanley recognizes the justice of the men's desire for extra pay for Sunday work, but under present conditions is unable to grant it. The City Council will be asked to make provision for such emergencies.

There was no meeting of the Civil Service Commission yesterday, owing to the absence of some of the members on their summer vacations.

HALL FOUND GUILTY.

SHOT PERCELL THREE TIMES. After being out an hour and ten minutes the jury in Judge Smith's court yesterday found W. A. Hall guilty of assault with intent to murder M. J. Percell, at the Agricultural Park on June 14:

der M. J. Percell, at the Agricultural Park on June 14:

Both men were employed at the race track. Hall tried-to collect a bill of $4$ from Percell. The latter maintained that the indeotedness was only $2.50, and angry words followed. While working around the stables Hall followed Percell, and at the hydrant Percell threatened to throw a bucket of water on him if he didn't let go and clear out. At that his temper got the better of his judgment, for Hall pulled a pistol and fired at his antagonist. The shot caught Percell in the abdomin, but he struck Hall on the head with the tin pail. Hall fell, but in that position fired two more shots with effect, the one catching Percell in the arm and the other; in his side.

The wounded man recovered. The only thing that saved him was that Hall's pistol was a cheep affair and not calculated to do deadly work unless in the hands of an expert.

10 Acre Walnut Nursery at Montebello

Walnut culture has proved to be decidedly profitable at Montebello. The above photograph shows a section of a 10-acre nursery owned by Mr. James Stewart. Mr. Stewart said recently, in speaking about this beautiful tract: "I bought this place" 3 years ago for $230 an acre. I wouldn't sell it for $1000 an acre today-in fact, it's not for sale. Thus far I have used no water this year. We have the best water system in Southern California, and it certainly suits me."

Montebello is only four miles east of the city limits on the Salt Lake R.R. Ninety homes have been built. The school facilities are excellent.

The dominant feature of this wonderfully fertile district is the abundant supply of pure water. Never has the slightest decrease in the supply been noticed since the installation of the system. Five water shares are deeded with each five-acre lot, the owner becoming a stockholder in the entire water system.

Five-acre lots may be secured from $255 to $370 per acre-1/4 cash, balance in from 1 to 4 years at 6 per cent. takes occasion to pass some comments upon what it terms "the wonderful change American traditions have undergone in the last decade, resulting in the United States making for itself an international position that commands respect, while arousing almost no enmity nor suspicion." The Post tosses us a handsome bouquet by declaring that "America is becoming an President and the late Secretary Hay. While thus describing, rather approvingly, our attitude toward the rest of the world, the London paper criticises, as one of the "weaknesses" of our position, the alleged fact that "American diplomacy does not rest, as all successful diplomacy must rest, upon the implication of force." Speaking of a recent suggestion of an alliance between the United States, Great Reliain and France, the Post save that tle use for discussing that or any simiadmit the word alliance into his poli-

Our friendly critic, in this instance, a considerable degree of accuracy.

Activity without aggressiveness is indeed the keynote of our participation in world-politics. The progress of events has made this policy neces-sary. It came in with the American-Spanish war, and the late President McKinley was its thief exemplar. The splendid diplomacy of Secretary Hay, which justly won the admiration of the world, was wrought out under the immediate direction of McKinley during the latter's occupancy of the Pres-idential office. That which our critic regards as the eakness of our position is regarded by Americans as one of the sour out strength. "The implication of force," while we do not often exploit it, is nevertheless a reality to all who can read between the lines. The navy which we maintain, and the greater an implication of force which cannot well be misunderstood. But we are not given to boasting our strength, nor sible and impossible occasion have the strength, and we are able to use it in case of absolute necessity. All the world knows this, and there is ountry to John D.'s folks.

It looks as if the demand for war material would come to an end now, but that is an end for which all right-minded people will earnestly wish. It will be better for us to earn money from Russia and Japan by making "plowshares and pruning hooks"—in modern words reapers and steam engines—than by making swords. No doubt this big war will end in shaking profoundly these an-cient empires from the stagnation of centuries and set them forward on the centuries and set them forward on the path of modern progress more rapidly than would have been the case in half a century of quiet. It will be a great struggle to repair the terrible ravages of war and to pay the accumulated cost. But the mental awakening of the great war will give an impetus to these nations which will enable them to meet the task and go on to the accomplishment of their separate destinies. Japan is a nation of such rare aptitude in appropriating the ideas and inventions of others, that we may find her people serious comwe may find her people serious com-petitors with us for trade in many parts of the world, more particularly in China. But as these people develop they will rise in the scale of civiliza-tion, and expand in their mode of life, that the scale of wages, until they come nearer to our own level. Meantime while this is going on, as they appropriate one line of industry and develop it, they will develop also a need for the products of other lines they have not yet mastered, and thus we are likely to do more business year by year with the Orient, rather than

Upbuilding of Russia.

Upbuilding of Russia.

The primary and most urgent need of Europe and of the world is the upbuilding and rehabilitation of Russia. The present disturbed balance of Europe is a constant menace to its peace. The unrestrained and at present unrestrained and at present unrestrained and the want of steadiness and teaponshibility, coupled with the restless spirit of its sovereign head, involve always the peril of interest, and, more remotely, of war. The self-denying ordinances by which the European Concert has so frequently averted war must continua to lack executive force and sanction so long as Eussia lies crippled and helpless.

When Russia is again a power to be reckoned with, new bonds of national interest will come into being and readjustments will ensue by which the disturbed balance will be restored. The rise of liberal institutions in Russia would in the nature of things result in the establishment of a balance based not upon the caprices or ambitions of sovereigns, but upon the interest of peoples. Europe and the world have need of a new Russia.—[New York Times.

Write it.

The Times is in receipt of a valuable communication referring to the publication in these columns of the beautiful stanzas entitled "There is No Death," and which the correspondent claims should not be credited to Bulwer-Lytton, as is almost invariably the case. The editor of The Times gladly gives space to the correspondent's contention, the more readily, too, because it again recalls that other deathless poem entitled "Unbellef."
The communication follows:
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 8, 1908.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In your issue of August 6, you reprinted a beautiful poem entitled "There is no Death," and, as has been done many times before, ascribed the authorship to Edward Bulwer-Lytton. It is one of those peculiar and persistent cases of literary misappropriation. The poem was written by an Iowa editor, J. L. McCreery, and was first published in Arthur's Home Magazine in 1853. It was copied by one E. Bulmer of Illinois and sent as his own to the Farmer's Advocate. Chicago. A Wisconsin paper republished it, but the editor, supposing the name of the author was a misprint, changed it to Bulwer, and the poem was extensively copied and credited to Sir Edward Bulwer. That author had not then assumed the hyphenated title of Bulwer-Lytton, but he was in the height of his popularity, and whatever he wrote had a wide circuiation.

and whatever he wrote had a wide circulation.

Bulmer has, however, invoked the Muse of Poesy with more or less success. In 1871 he published his most ambitious poem, "King Arthur." It consists of six-line cantos and fills do pages. Here is the closing verse: "What gallant deeds in gentle lists were done, What lutes made joyance sweet in jasmine bowers.

It reminds one of the suphonious versification of the eighteenth century poets, but lacks the virility of thought and expression which have made the productions of his contemporary poets

He trusts in God.

The reader can shut his eyes and see a narrow street scrupulously clean, lined with small and quaint but beautiful dwellings, little white doors with polished knockers, almost hid behind a profusion of tropical vines and flowers. Then his closed eyes glance into an insire court, cool, clean and shady, indicative of retirement, refinement and ease. His olfactories detect the odor of luscious cooking and then he sees the table. What a tablecloth, what odd and beautiful figures and costumes, what new and enticing dishes!

Was there ever anything so unique and so ravishing? What a mistake travelers make who do not take in New Orleans and the French quarter!

When some traveler who has read such descriptions has arrived in New Orleans and found his way to the French quarter he is appalled at the difference between what he has read and what he then sees. He stands in one of the worst slums in any country, with gutters filled with lasy streams of red, green and yellow slops, the stench from which nearly asphyxiates him. The houses are old, dilapidated, antiquated and dusty. Most of the people he meets are hot and dirty and little better than social vermin.

he sniffs no Creole cooking, he hears no love song. There are a few old buildings of historic interest and when he has seen these he hurries back to his hotel, in a more sanitary part of the city.

The yellow fever never originates from anywhere and is always imported from some other place, but in New Orleans it always makes its first appearance in the French quarter. The visitor always wonders that this locality is ever free from it and is ready to admit that if the disease could ever originate anywhere this would be its birthplace.

Expected.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIME. PORTLAND (Or.) Aug. 8.-Elks of PORTLAND (Or.) Aug. 8.—Elks of high and low degree will assemble by the thousands in Portland on Wednesday, August 16, which has been designated as Elks Day at the Lewis and Clark Exposition. The gathering promises to be the biggest herding together of the tribe ever accomplished in the Northwest, and local Elks are in the Northwest, and local Eliks are making elaborate preparations for the reception of the visitors. Special trains will bring large delegations from Seat-tle, Tacoma, Bellingham, San Fran-cisco, Los Angeles, San José, Sacra-mento, Butte, Helena, Missoufia, Great Falls, Salt Lake City, Ogden, Denver, Colorado Springs and many other noints.

Colorado Springs and many other points.

A big parade and probably the largest social session ever held in the Northwest are planned as features of the day's celebration. Other details are not yet completed, but a committee headed by Major Charles E. McDonneil of the Lewis and Clark Centennial Guard, exalted ruler of the local herd, has the arrangements in charge. The committee has prepared a poster telling of the coming celebration, which declares that the Elks both tame and wild, will be protected to the limit, and they will be permitted to roam at will in the grassy pastures of the peninsula, or on the rocky heights of the mainland.

Snow Mountain Creeks was finally settled yesterday by the Supreme Court, which handed down an opinion atoming the decision of Judge F. F. Oster. He said he understood that those who made the protest instituded the entire board in the arraignment, but as for himself he would advocate still further extensions, as in that way only could the town hope to spread out. Until there was water in the outlying districts it could not be expected that people would leave the center of population. His views met with favor by the board, and it is likely that still other sections distant from the crowded centers will receive water.

IDYLLWILD. STUDIES ANIMALS HIGH UP. IDYLLWILD, Aug. 5.-James H. turned from a three days trip to the summit of San Jacinto and Tauquitz Mountains, where he was engaged in trapping mammals. In the Tauquitz meadows Mr. Gaut discovered a unique specimen of water shrew, which was not supposed to exist in this region. These ahrews live only above an axitude of 8000 feet, and this was found at 8406 feet above sea level. The shrews are generally referred to as insectivorous quadrupeds but this species is camivorous, and eats moles and field mice larger than itself. Upon San Jacinto Mountain Mr. Gaut caught three distinct species of chipmunk, as well as many well-known mammals he was expecting to find. He reports that there is still a good deal of spow upon the south side of San Jacinto, and the nights in that region are very cold. He ascended to an elevation of 10,200 feet.

VENTURA. RAILROAD MYSTERY.

PECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES VENTURA, Aug. 8.—John Burson says, regarding his railroad enterprise at Oxnard and Hueneme, that neither the Santa Fé nor the Sait Lake road has anything to do with his plans, nor have the Bakersfield oil interests and what his road is intended for. The latest rumor in regard to the Burson enterprise is that the roads he is building, which all center in Oxnard, are intended for the conveying of beets to the Oxnard sugar factory. Burson says his next stretch of road will be built to Ventura from Oxnard through the Patterson and Dixle Thompson ganches. The Oxnards own the former ranch and have been negotiating for the purchase of the latter, and there are those who believe they have secured it. With the help of the Burson read it may be made an adjunct to the sugar factory at Oxnard. The ranch comprises 2500 acres.

"I suffered terribly with heart disease. I have been treated by different physicians for my trouble without results. I went to a physician in Memphis, who claimed that I had dropsy of the heart. He saw my condition, and reconneended Dr. Miles' Heart Cure to me. I gave it little attention until my return from Memphis, when I concluded to try it, and am pleased to say three bottles cured me. REMEDY FOR HAY FEVER

Atter Trying Other Treatments Hyomei Was Used With Perfect Success.

J. F. Forbes, a well-known western railroad man, whose home is at Mc-Cook, Neb., writes: "I have never had any relief from any remedy for hay fever, even temporarily, until I dis-covered the merits of Hyomel. I always recommend it when occasion requires."

There is no offensive or dangerous stomach dosing when Hyomei is used.
This reliable remedy for the cure of all diseases of the respiratory organs is breathed through a neat pocket in-haler that comes with every outfit, so that the air taken into the throat and lungs is like that of the White Moun-tains or other health resorts, where hay fever is unknown.

The fact that your druggist agrees to refund the money to any hay fever sufferer-who uses Hyomei without suc-cess, should inspire confidence in its power to effect a cure. A complete outfit costs only $1.00 and extra bottles but 50 cents.

If you cannot get Hyomei from your druggist, it will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, $1.00, for complete outfit. 50 cents for extra bottles. THE R. T. BOOTH CO., Hyomei Bldg., Ithaca, N. X.
